LOS ANGELES (AP)—General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, a soldier for more than a half a century, gave the world today a ringing challenge to abolish war.

But in fierce championship of America he cried out that "seductive murmurs are arising that patriotism is outmoded," and he demanded:

"Listen not to these voices, be they from the one political party or from the other, from the high and the mighty or the lowly and forgotten. Visit them with scorn. Repudiate them in the marketplace, on the platform or in the pulpit."

Double Suicide

The conqueror of Japan and the draftsman of its peace, who was recalled from his Far Eastern command in 1951, observed his 75th birthday anniversary in Los Angeles Wednesday. With Mrs. MacArthur constantly by his side, he went through a tiring day of three speeches, adulation of the crowds and dedication of a statue of himself and monument in his honor at the city's MacArthur Park.

He flies back to New York today to resume his business life as board chairman of the Remington Rand Corp.

In his speech Wednesday night at a civic banquet sponsored by the American Legion, he said:

"War has become a Frankenstein to destroy both sides. No longer is it the weapon of adventure whereby a shortcut to international power and wealth—a place in the sun—can be gained. If you lose, you are annihilated. If you win, you stand only to lose."

He said war now contains "the germs of double suicide" and the great question is: Does this mean that war can now be outlawed from the world? If so, it would mark the greatest advance in civilization since the Sermon on the Mount.

Message From Hirohito

This nation, he said, "should now proclaim our readiness to abolish war in concert with the great powers of the world. The result would be magical."

In the midday monument dedication speech the general said: "I understand full well this memorial is intended to commemorate an epoch rather than an individual, an armed force rather than its commander, a nation rather than its servants, an ideal rather than its personality." And of the armed forces, "I and this statue and this

Senate Group Seeks To Narrow U.S. Shooting Area Off Formosa

WASHINGTON (AP)—A small but determined band of senators fought today to narrow the area in which President Eisenhower would have Congress' approval to order American forces to shoot in defense of Formosa.

The President's fight - for - Formosa resolution, passed by the House Tuesday, came up in the Senate for official action and almost certain passage, but probably not for some days.

Approach Routes Guarded
Containing that the resolution would authorize "preventive war" action against Communist China, a small group sought to write in curbs on the grant of authority.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, said that if the resolution were approved without changes there would be no "preventive war" and U.S. forces would fire only if fired upon.

Knowland told the Senate yesterday amendments proposed by Senators Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Kefauver (D-Tenn.), if adopted, would be "a green light for the Communists to come and take" Quemoy and Matsu. These two islands, just off the China coast, guard main approach routes to Formosa, seat of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government.

Humphrey and Kefauver made it clear they had little hope the Senate would approve their amendments.

Troop Attacks Opposed
The criticism voiced in preliminary debate Wednesday centered on that portion of the resolution which, as generally interpreted, would give Eisenhower authorization from Congress to order attacks on troop concentrations or staging areas on the China mainland.

Humphrey has proposed to limit the defense area to Formosa and the Pescadores. Kefauver would put Formosa under United Nations supervision.

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.), opposing the resolution, told the Senate "we have had intimations from the highest quarters that it would be militarily advisable to prevent the massing of troops and equipment gathered for the purpose of making an assault on the islands (of Quemoy and Matsu)," and he declared:

"Put in plain English, this is preventive war."

Millions Needed To Erase Deficit In State Budget

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams asked the Legislature today to enact a five per cent corporations profits tax to help finance the ambitious program he has outlined for the next fiscal year.

The new tax, he said, would yield an estimated 110 million dollars a year and erase the 46 million dollar deficit in his budget.

"The need we face for increased state revenues is simply the bill we must pay for decent educational opportunity for our youth, and for the decent care and treatment of the mentally ill," Williams said.

No Surprise

Requested repeatedly by Williams during his six years in office, the plea for a corporations profits tax came as no surprise.

In his message, delivered to the Legislature in printed form, Williams also proposed:

1. Retention of the present business receipts tax, exempting corporations. Unless renewed, the tax expires March 31.

2. Repeal of the present corporation franchise tax.

3. Replacement of the "antiquated" inheritance tax with a "modern" estate tax that would cover loopholes in the present law.

The governor assured businessmen that the five per cent levy would actually mean only a 2.4 per cent tax increase because the state tax can be deducted from federal corporation taxes.

Income Levy Unfair
Adoption of the corporations tax, repeal of the corporations franchise tax and partial repeal of the business receipts tax would give the state an additional 44 million dollars in revenue, he said.

Williams dismissed the idea of a state property tax, abolished 20 years ago.

"To invade this field of taxation would simply move the financial crisis from the state to the local levels," he said.

The governor also turned thumbs down on any personal income tax at this time.

"Michigan has the highest per

New York GOP Legislators War With Governor

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman and the Republicans who control New York's Legislature are at war. The outcome could have an impact on the presidential race next year.

Since his inauguration Jan. 1, the state's first Democratic governor in 12 years and the GOP leaders of the Legislature have been engaged in a steady cross-fire.

Can't Override Veto

Issues include taxes, workers' benefits, a number of Harriman's appointments, and whether bingo should be legalized immediately.

The Republicans have enough votes in the Legislature to defeat any Harriman measure. But they don't have the votes to override Harriman's veto on their own programs.

Three major quarrels have broken out already.

Round 1: Harriman said the states had been spending beyond its income for years under his Republican predecessor, Thomas E. Dewey. He asserted that the state's capital construction fund was overcommitted and short of cash.

One of his first acts was to freeze big state construction contracts pending a view of the fund.

Tangle Over Taxes
The Republicans contended that he was "jeopardizing thousands of jobs" and demanded that he revoke a "hasty and ill-considered decision."

Round 2: The Republicans passed bills keeping state income and unincorporated business taxes at their present levels — an abatement of about 48½ million dollars to taxpayers this year. Harriman declared he would veto them as "irresponsible."

The GOP claimed Harriman's stand was proof he planned a "high-tax administration."

Round 3: The Senate withheld confirmation of five of Harriman's appointments, including that of Carmine G. De Sapio, a Democratic national committeeman, as secretary of state. DeSapio is leader of Tammany Hall, the Mahattan Democratic organization. The issue has not yet reached a showdown.

Round 4 will begin when Harriman presents his budget to the Legislature Feb. 1.

Measure Pushed On GI Schooling

WASHINGTON (AP)—House leaders arranged for quick action today on a limited GI schooling bill—a likely curtain raiser for more far-reaching veterans' legislation in the new Congress.

The measure would permit an estimated 1,400,000 men in the armed forces by Jan. 31 to keep on accruing postservice education rights beyond that date.

That cutoff date was fixed by President Eisenhower in an order which also canceled various Korean War veterans benefits for men entering service after that date.

The education bill, offered by Committee Chairman Teague (D-Tex.), has Eisenhower's approval. It would let men in service by the end of this month continue to accrue education rights at the present rate of 1½ days for each day in service, up to the existing maximum of 36 months' schooling—a benefit worth about $5,000 per man. It would cost the government an estimated 350 million dollars or more over the next few years.

Deadly U.S. Jets Roar Into China Trouble Zone

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Swift and deadly U.S. Sabrejets roared in from Okinawa and the Philippines today in a dramatic move that underscored U.S. determination to defend this Chinese Nationalist island and its key outposts against any Communist invasion.

The Sabres, impressive victors over Russian-built MIGs in the Korean War, landed at a Nationalist air force base south of Taipei.

The entire U. S. 18th Fighter-Bomber Wing, with a normal complement of 75 Sabrejets, was transferred here. The Sabres will probably be used to screen the evacuation of the Red - threatened Tachen Islands, 200 miles north of here.

Ready For Action

And they would lend tremendous striking power to the U.S. 7th Fleet, now gathered in impressive array near here and ready for action if ordered.

Operational plans for the evacuation of the Tachens appear to have been perfected. Should they be put into execution and meet Communist opposition, Formosa is the nearest territory in friendly hands from which land-based planes should support the fleet.

A report from Singapore said the fleet itself apparently would be beefed up by the addition of the aircraft carrier Midway. The 45,000-ton flattop was due there Feb. 4 but U.S. Navy officials said she is now "heading north." Four other U.S. carriers, the Essex, Yorktown, Kearsarge and Wasp, are in Formosa waters with the fleet.

Bombers Move Closer

Four U. S. destroyers cut short a courtesy call to Singapore and sailed from there today. American naval sources said they were presumably continuing their voyage to the United States, but their abrupt departure stirred speculation that they, too, were headed for the Formosa area.

U. S. naval sources in Hong Kong said a scheduled call there by the cruiser Pittsburgh had been cancelled and the ship diverted to "other areas."

In Taipei, the best guess was that Chinese Nationalist naval forces would carry out the actual evacuation of the Tachens, screened and covered by the gathering U.S. air and sea power.

Gen. Earle E. Partridge, FEAF commander in Tokyo, said "Other FEAF offensive units are being redeployed to forward bases."

This could mean that long-range bombers were being moved closer to the troubled Formosa area, possibly Okinawa. In Guam, however, a spokesman for the Strategic Air Command's 3rd Air Division said, "Not any of our aircraft here are involved" in the reported redeployment. The spokesman said B36 intercontinental bombers are on Guam on 90-day routine training, but no B47 jet bombers.

In Okinawa, a USAF spokesman said redeployment of the 18th Fighter-Bomber Wing to Formosa had been anticipated for some time. The wing came here last year and its departure for Formosa was actually announced in Tokyo before its presence here had been officially disclosed.

More Defense Work Coming To Michigan, Governor Predicts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams says he thinks he has "impressed" Pentagon officials "as to the urgency" of allotting more defense work to Michigan.

Williams conferred with government officials Wednesday and told newsmen afterward the conference "wasn't successful in getting contracts at the present moment, but I think we impressed them as to the urgency of our need."

The governor met with Robert C. Lanphier Jr., assistant secretary of defense for supply, and other officials.

With Williams were Sen. McNamara (D-Mich.); Thomas McIntyre, aide to Sen. Potter (R-Mich.); Michigan Democratic Congressmen Machrowicz, Lesinski, Griffiths, Diggs, and Hayworth; Walker Cister, chairman of the Michigan Emergency Industrial Production Commission, also attended.

Williams said Michigan's share of defense contracts dwindled in the last year from 9.6 to 8.1 per cent of the national total while New York has 15.6 and California 14.8.

Lanphier, the governor said, indicated there would be a few new contracts, mostly aircraft, going to California. Williams told him Michigan plants could produce aviation items.

Williams said Michigan now has 148,000 jobless workers and that scheduled closings of the Chrysler tank arsenal, Kaiser Motors and Bohm aluminum plants in the Detroit area will put 4,500 more out of jobs.

Ford Aids Crusade

DETROIT (AP)—A gift of $250,000 to help carry the message of the free world to people in Iron Curtain nations was announced Wednesday by Henry Ford II, president of the Ford Motor Co. The Ford Motor Co. Fund, presented the money to the 1955 Crusade for Freedom to support Radio Free Europe in its year-around broadcasts to Communist-dominated nations.

Cutter Saves 8; Plane Ditched In Stormy Atlantic

NEW YORK (AP)—All hands were safe today aboard a Coast Guard cutter which had raced to a radio-guided rendezvous with a military plane forced to ditch into the stormy Atlantic more than 800 miles east of Bermuda.

Rain slashed into a running sea a couple of hours before darkness Wednesday when the cutter Coos Bay contacted a four-engine military Air Transport Service C54 with six crewmen and two passengers aboard.

The pilot of the plane, bound from the Azores to Bermuda, shortly before had radioed the U.S. Air Force base at Bermuda that he was running out of fuel 1,000 miles east of that island, bucking vicious headwinds and had no hope of reaching land.

The 311-foot Coos Bay, on mid-ocean patrol and itself battling 13-foot waves and 40-knot winds, guided the pilot in its direction by radio.

Two hours and 21 minutes later, about 840 miles east of Bermuda and minutes before nightfall, the big plane set down on the wind-tossed sea. The Coos Bay's two motor-drive lifeboats plowed to the stricken craft and effected a 12-minute rescue job.

Today the cutter still hovered in the area, waiting for a chance the plane was still afloat and could be towed into Bermuda, where the survivors will be taken.

Burned Ohio Man Lies Alone For 3 Weeks

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP)—A man who lay helpless with heavy burns for three weeks before discovery has been hospitalized here in critical condition.

Victor J. Killiany, 69, who lives alone, was discovered Wednesday in his small Cambridge country home by a neighbor.

From his bed in Guernsey Memorial Hospital he told authorities he managed to keep alive by eating bits of bread after a kerosene stove exploded, burning his entire body.

Plans Are Laid For Conference On Education

Plans for the central Upper Peninsula regional White House conference on education were launched at a meeting of educators from six counties Wednesday afternoon at the House of Ludington.

Ogden Johnson of Ishpeming, executive of the Cleveland Cliffs Co., and for many years superintendent of schools at Ishpeming, was elected regional chairman for the conference to be held in late April or early May at Northern Michigan College of Education, Marquette. Henry Bothwell, superintendent of schools, Marquette, was elected secretary of the conference. Elected as vice chairman are Jean Worth, editor of the Menominee Herald Leader, and a member of the Menominee Board of Education, and Mrs. Morris Cohodas, Iron Mountain, an officer of the Michigan Parent Teachers Association.

County committees elected by representatives of each county in attendance at yesterday's planning meeting follow:

Delta County — Mrs. Wilma Cowell, Rapid River; Ken Gunderman, Charles Follo and Jess Pomazel, Escanaba; Milton Berg, Gladstone.

Schoolcraft County — Russell Watson, Mrs. L. E. Wilson, Mrs. J. J. Herbert, Mrs. Edwin and Carl Carlson, all of Manistiquette.

Menominee County — Mrs. Glen Thompson, Menominee; Herbert Corey, Stephenson; Mrs. Harlan Hanson, Powers; Mrs. Wilson Denton, Hermansville; and Mrs. Eugene Peterson, Carney.

Alger County — Mrs. R. W. Nebel and Andrew Mahalic, Munising; John Norlin, Chatham; Albert Kkala and Mrs. John Webber, Trenary.

Marquette County — Roy Fletcher, Mrs. James Acocks, Kenneth Lowe, all of Marquette; Mrs. Opal Arsenault, Champion; Walter Gries, Negaunee.

Dickinson County — Mrs. Morris Cohodas, Lawrence Tucker and T. J. Barry, Iron Mountain; Mrs. William Kivisaari, Norway; Mrs. Eunice Richter, Kingsford.

Steve Nesbit of Fremont, member of the state board of education, outlined the objectives of the conference. Clair Taylor, state superintendent of public instruction, was unable to attend. Dr. H. A. Tape, president of Northern Michigan College, Marquette, and John A. Lemmer, superintendent of schools in Escanaba, are members of the state planning committee for the White House conference. Both spoke at the regional meeting here Wednesday.

The objectives of the conference is to create stronger lay participation in education and to find solutions to the pressing problems confronting the nation's schools.

The state conference will be held in Lansing May 18 and the national conference will be held in Washington in November.

The Upper Peninsula is divided into three of the 14 regions in Michigan. The conference yesterday was called to make preliminary plans for the regional conference for the central Upper Peninsula region.

Bids On Five Lots Rejected By Board

Escanaba Board of Education met in a special meeting Wednesday afternoon and rejected all of the bids that were submitted for the five residential lots owned by the School District and offered for sale.

Board members felt that the offers were too low. The bid checks were returned.

ON HISTORICAL SOCIETY PROGRAM—Bells and biographies of an earlier day were discussed by speakers at a meeting of the Delta County Historical Society last night at the Delta Hotel. ## Delta Historical Society Hears Marquette Speaker

The Delta County Historical Society in annual dinner meeting last night at the Delta Hotel heard Mrs. Carroll Paul, curator for the Marquette County Historical Society, and two other speakers, and elected officers for the ensuing year.

Mrs. Paul discussed hitherto little-known facts in the life of Charles T. Harvey, engineer of the Sault Ste. Marie locks, builder of the first road between Masonville and Marquette, and designer of the first iron ore docks at Marquette and Escanaba.

Describing Harvey as a "man of great vision" and energy in promotion of the Upper Peninsula, Mrs. Paul told how, in the period from 1855 to 1864, Harvey as agent in handling land grants for the St. Marys canal encouraged the construction of roads and the establishment of industries.

Historic Bells
In one mining deal however, he got the better of Samuel Tilden, financier and political figure — and incurred the enmity of a man more powerful than himself. Harvey was virtually forced to leave the Upper Peninsula and from here went to New York City, where he built the first elevated railway in that city but lost his fortune.

Mrs. Frank Spear Sr. of Marquette, whose collection of interesting and historic bells numbers more than 600, talked to the Historical Society about some of the bells she has obtained from many countries of the world. One of the most historically significant to this region, which she displayed as a part of her talk, was an altar bell used by Father Baraga, pioneer priest of the Upper Peninsula.

A member of the American Bell Association, Mrs. Spear described and exhibited bells from Old Russia, the Orient and Europe. One bell of unusual interest was that from the U. S. Army camel corps of the Southwest, where imported camels were used by the U. S. Army just prior to the Civil War. Kenyon Boyer, managing director of the Marquette County Historical Society, presented information about the Delta County area in the early days. The information was gleaned from items in old copies of the Lake Superior Journal, the newspaper preceding the Delta County Historical Society.

One issue of Jan. 25, 1859, described lumbering and mill operations in the Bay De Noc area, with settlements at Garden, Nahma, Whitefish, Masonville, Flat Rock and Ford River. Escanaba was not mentioned, since it was not settled until 1863.

The speakers were introduced by Charles Follo, president of the Delta County Historical Society. He expressed the hope that the local Historical Society will soon have a museum to house the growing collections of the Society.

Letters To The Editor

THE ELECTRIC PROBLEM

Dear Editor:
I have just been reading the report of Mr. Warden's talk to the Rotary club on the electric power situation in Escanaba. Undoubtedly this is the most important question to come before our people for decision in this generation.

After studying all the factors involved it seems logical to conclude that the future growth and expansion of Escanaba is directly dependent upon an intelligent decision of this question. For myself, the only question I have to decide is: Which of these plans proposed will give us what we need, and must have: A constant and reliable, guaranteed source of power, sufficient to attract industry of any size that might be interested in locating here. I can visualize many such industries when the seaway and bridge are completed. If we are not ready for them they won't wait until we are. Some more forward looking community will pick them off to our definite disadvantage.

I am just afraid that the same thing will happen in the coming special election that happened in the last one. The majority of our voters, too well satisfied or too lethargic to bother to go to the polls and register their opinion on important questions affecting the future of their community will stay at home and it will be settled for us by a small minority of our citizens. Certainly not the way it was intended that such questions should be decided when the franchise to vote was given to us.

It is all very well to have representatives of all parties concerned address the various service clubs. True there are influential people in the community, but they only have one vote each, and they are not a good source for the dissemination of information. Mostly they are business men who hesitate to take sides on any question of a controversial nature for fear of its effect on their own business and they are usually very adroit at straddling the subject. The people who must be reached and informed on all angles of this matter are the "run of the mine" voters, who have no axe to grind or no special interests to humor, except their own interest in seeing that the decision that is made is the right one for Escanaba. These are the women of the community, the labor organizations and the various and sundry folks who are tied to no organization but whose vote is just as important as the next one when this is decided.

The City Council and Power Advisory Board have done an outstanding job in bringing this intricate and important development to its present status. Now it is up to them and all others interested to see that ALL the information they have, is given simply and truthfully, by word of mouth if possible to as many voters as can be reached between now and election day.

Let us get the facts before the people so that regardless of how many curves are thrown on the day before election, they will have had an opportunity to learn the truth and make their own decision. Intelligently and for the lasting benefit of our city.

Yours very truly,
E. J. Eden

Final Accounting Made In John Norton Estate

The final accounting of Executor James Frost in the John P. Norton estate, filed Wednesday at the Delta County Probate Office, revealed that the value of the estate in property other than the Escanaba Daily Press totaled $180,178.73.

The newspaper property was turned over to the Escanaba Board of Education on Feb. 23, 1954 and the property later was sold by the Board of Education for $432,000.

The fees of the McGinn and Fitzharris law firm, acting for the executor in the contest of the Norton will, were $61,912.39. Disbursements of McGinn and Fitzharris for the executor in the defense of the will were $1,814.62.

The fees of the executor, James Frost, were $14,409.74. Expenses also included attorney fees of Cohn and Marks regarding the suit of the estate against the Delta Broadcasting Co. of $261.50, and $255.00 for M. S. Kuhns and Co., accountants, regarding the sale of the Escanaba Daily Press.

The executor's final accounting revealed that a balance of $109,610.89 is held in stocks, bonds and cash. This amount will be turned over to the Board of Education.

The assets included $12,916.75 in the sale of Old Orchard Farm and $78,000 in settlement of the suit against Frank and George Lindenthal and the Delta Broadcasting Co.

Teacher Shortage Threatens Important School Instruction

At a meeting of Upper Peninsula school superintendents in Escanaba yesterday the discussion naturally turned to the shortage of teachers. We were amazed to hear that the teacher shortage is so acute in some specialized fields that serious consideration will have to be given in some areas to rather drastic reduction in curriculum.

Take home economics, for instance. Superintendents report that the teacher situation is real acute in this field. Home economics teachers are rarer than hen's teeth. According to the superintendents the average teacher tenure of home economics teachers nationally is a mere year and a half. Imagine it!

We learned, for instance, that last year only six persons trained in home economics were graduated at Stout Institute and of these, only one actually went into the teaching field. Three were employed by private industry and two chose marriage instead of a teaching career. Only two home economics teachers were graduated at Northern State Teachers College. Only six senior students at Michigan State College are training as home economics instructors.

The situation apparently is so bad that some superintendents are already talking about abandoning home economics courses in their high schools. This, we believe, is tragic. The high schools should train young women in the art of home making. Home economics training is more important in the welfare of our nation than training in foreign languages.

This problem is one that deserves public attention. We believe that the problem can be solved if the public is made aware of it. More bright young women can be recruited into this important work. The shortage apparently is not entirely a matter of higher wages although this may be a factor. It seems that most schools are already offering substantially higher wages to home economics teachers than the average starting salary of teachers in recognition of the tremendous shortage that exists.

Words, Wit &amp; Wisdom

By William Morris

Not long ago the mayor of Albany, New York, was asked by the citizens of Albany, Australia, for the correct pronunciation of the name of his city. He reported that the consensus among his town's inhabitants was for AWL-buh-nee, though the Australian burghers had plumped for AL-buh-nee.

This prompted a Buffalo, New York, reader to inquire whether there are any other notable instances of places having the same name but pronouncing it differently. The answer is, of course, that there are many. Here are just a few which come to mind.

Both Egypt and Illinois pride themselves on their cities named Cairo—but the Egyptians call it KY-roh, while Illinois residents make it KAY-roh.

A noted channel port in France is Calais, pronounced kah-LAY, but the Maine town of the same name is called KAL-iss by its residents.

The Rio Grande River has been famed in the lore of our Southwest for generations and is generally given a rough approximation of the Spanish pronunciation, REE-oh GRAHN-day. But the town of the same name in Southern Ohio is called RY-oh GRAND. This is the place, incidentally, which enjoyed a brief moment in the sun a year or two ago when a local basketball player with the improbable name of Bevo Francis was rated the nation's number one scorer.

Delhi, India, is pronounced with the "h" silent, as DEL-ee, but the "h" makes its presence strongly felt in the pronunciation of the same name of a New York state village, DEL-hy.

The proud city of Houston, Texas, pronounces its name HEW-stun in honor of the hero of the Alamo. But the street of the same name in lower New York City still is given the pronunciation favored by the early Dutch settlers, HOW-stun. It would be a foolhardy Yankee indeed who would attempt that pronunciation deep in the heart of Texas!

The lordly airs of Alexander Woolcott irritated many of his associates, including Albert Crockett of the old New York Sun who met Woolcott in a theatre just after the latter had contributed a serialized life of Irving Berlin to a big weekly magazine. "That's a good piece of yours they're running. Do you like the illustrations they've provided?" asked Crockett politely. Woolcott scowled, then replied in his loftiest manner, "I do not read the popular magazines, Sir; I just write for them!" Crockett snapped, "Rot!", a sentiment with which I heartily concur.

There was a lot of excitement on the campus of a girl's college some time ago. A fire broke out in the newest dormitory in the middle of the night. It took the firemen an hour to put out the fire. Then it took the girls another hour to put out the firemen.

The Doctor Says . . .
No Method of 'Encouraging' Birth Of One Sex In Humans

By EDWIN P. JORDAN M. D. — Written for NEA Service

If parents could decide on the sex of their offspring would it be good or bad for the human race? Would we have more boys and not enough girls or the other way around? These questions I cannot answer, but today's first letter deals with this subject.

Q—Is determination of the sex of a child due only to chance? We lost our only boy (we have two older girls) four hours after birth. Does the month in which the child is conceived decide the sex? Is there any method by which we would be more likely to have another boy? I am nearly out of my mind with grief and feel that my only hope is to have another baby.

Mrs. S.

A—The month at which conception takes place does not have any effect on the sex of the offspring. There is no method of "encouraging" the birth of one sex rather than another in human beings. Slightly more male babies are born than girls in about the ratio of 102 boys to 100 girls. The chances that your next child would be a boy, therefore, are slightly better than even. May your wish be successful.

Q—I have a large abdominal rupture which interferes with breathing. When I climb stairs I am completely exhausted. Since I am 76 years old, would an operation be serious?

G. M.

A—If your health is otherwise good an operation, perhaps under local anesthetic, could be considered. On the other hand it might be better to employ some kind of support or truss. Only someone familiar with your general physical condition could give an exact answer.

Q—I have been troubled with psycphritis for over a year. Would you discuss this?

Mrs. G. D.

A—This is an infection with germs of a portion of the kidney and urinary passages. The treatment of acute phases has been greatly improved by the sulfa drugs and by penicillin and its relatives. In the chronic variety the search for obstruction or stones or other local difficulties may be needed in addition. Under such circumstances the disease is likely to continue until the underlying cause has been removed.

Q—Is it possible to have a venereal disease and not know it?

Reader.

A—Possible but not likely. The question can be answered by a blood test in the case of syphilis and other examinations in the case of gonorrhea.

Q—I was told about 20 years ago that I had an enlarged spleen. It has never given me any trouble until lately. Can it be removed by operation without endangering my life?

Mrs. M. F.

A—In certain conditions the removal of the spleen is desirable, and this can be done without apparent harm to the bodily functions. The question should be gone into thoroughly and since the large spleen has apparently been present for 20 years without causing trouble one would certainly hesitate to remove it without good reason.

Q—Should anything be done about small hairs growing down out of the inside of the nose? Cosmetically they are ugly and a lady does not wish to have them. Can they be removed by electrolysis or is it advisable to just snip them off with scissors as fast as they grow?

V. B. D.

A—I should prefer the latter.

Today And Tomorrow

By WALTER LIPPMANN

The realities of the Formosa question are overlaid with so much propaganda, bluff, and face-saving that it is hard to find one's way around in it. The best clue to a clarified definition of the problem—I am not saying a solution of the problem—is to recognize that there are in fact two lines which mark the limits of what we call "Formosa."

The one line is known to the experts working on the problem as the "jurisdictional line." It is the line laid down in the Japanese surrender terms, the Japanese peace treaty, the proposed mutual security pact with Chiang's government and in the President's message. The line covers Formosa and the Pescadores but not the off-shore islands. The other line includes the off-shore islands. Though it is sometimes called "the strategic line," that is a misleading name for a line of which some of the islands at least, such as the Tachens now, Quemoy in September, have been declared of no decisive strategic importance. This second line is in fact the western boundary of the legal territory of China that Chiang's Nationalist government still holds. It is the line where the Nationalist retreat from the mainland ended.

The difference between these two lines, which involve the possession of the off-shore islands, is probably the critical issue in the present phase of maneuver and possible negotiation about "Formosa." The off-shore islands—but not Formosa and the Pescadores—are Chinese territory for which the Chinese civil war is still being fought. They are the last remaining Chinese territories which Chiang actually governs.

That gives these off-shore islands considerable symbolic importance. A clean-cut decision by the United States to stand on the jurisdictional line of the treaties would protect Formosa, it would cut off the implied commitment of the United States to support Chiang in a campaign of restoration.

For Peking this would mean acceptance of the fact that they are the de facto government of Chinese territories. It would not recognize that they have title to Formosa. Nobody would have title to Formosa. The allied powers who have made the peace treaty with Japan would remain the custodians of the title to Formosa and the Pescadores.

LINE OF DEMARCATION

It is evident that if there is to be a cease-fire, there must be a line of demarcation, and that the most reasonable line is the jurisdictional line. East of that line Peking does not have any legal title; armed action would therefore be international aggression. West of the line we have no legal claims, and intervention would be intervention in a civil war. The acceptance by us of the jurisdictional line would put an end conclusively to the notion of a United States intention to intervene. It would, moreover, fix conclusively not only the defense but the custodial character of our presence in Formosa.

There are differences of opinion as to the strategic value of these off-shore islands. They would seem in the main to have a nuisance value in that they enable the Nationalists to interfere in some degree with coastal shipping. That may well be one of the reasons why Peking has been showing so much interest in them.

From the point of view of the defense of Formosa, their importance cannot be very great. Last week the President wrote off the Tachens and last September he wrote off Quemoy. It is indeed a question whether these islands, some of them within less than five miles of the mainland, are not strategic liabilities if it came to actual fighting. I have heard one eminent soldier, not American but active in our cause, say that an insistence upon defending these off-shore islands would be like trying to defend the doormat of a house inhabited by your enemies.

LIVING ON FALSE HOPES

The real significance of these off-shore islands is not strategic but legal and political. In forming our policy we cannot expect to find that every consideration is on one side rather than the other. What we shall find is, I believe, that the preponderant weight of the considerations is in favor of our standing on the jurisdictional line.

The objection to doing that is that it means the final abandonment of our support of the Nationalist campaign of restoration, and that this will destroy the morale of the Chinese on Formosa. There can be little doubt that the Formosa Chinese and their supporters in other lands will feel that they have been deprived of the hope of a restoration. But is it not the fact that insofar as they have thought the United States would go to war for a restoration, they have been living on false hopes? I think their sincerest friends in Washington would tell them that American opinion favors the defense of Formosa but it is opposed to a commitment or to taking any risks of war about going back to the mainland.

Military Expert Shows How Geographers Aids U.S. Defense

By BRIG. GEN. T. R. PHILLIPS

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— The United States has a built-in geographical advantage over the Soviet Union for defense against air attack as well as for aerial operations it might conduct against the Soviet heartland.

Our aircraft can enter the Soviet Union's Eurasian heartland at any point on its 14,000-mile perimeter.

This perimeter is so vast that it is impossible to set up either a complete defensive screen or a warning screen at or near the rim. This requires the Soviets to defend from regions inside the country.

Thus they lose the advantage of distant warning and successive lines of defense. It has been reported that the Moscow region is surrounded by 17 airdromes.

A second offensive advantage comes from the much shorter distances the United States Air Force has to fly from our peripheral bases to enter a central Eurasian territory.

Moscow is only 1100 miles from Turkey, 1600 miles from England, and 2700 miles from England, and 2700 miles from Thule. There is actually no target that is more than 3000 miles distant from some one of our peripheral bases.

All can be reached by our medium bombers and, with refueling, present bombers can return to their bases.

The picture with reference to a Soviet attack on the United States is just the opposite. All Soviet bases are more than 3000 miles from targets in the United States.

In addition, geography forces the Eurasian power to make its flights over thousands of miles of territory controlled by the U. S. or its allies. The approaches are channelized over natural defensive and warning areas unless long dog-legs are flown, which would increase the already great distances.

Distance is an important factor in limiting offensive capacity, simply as a function of time. A 10,000-mile flight would require from 24 to 48 hours, depending upon the type of plane. Flights of half or less than half that distance, such as from our peripheral bases to Eurasia, could be made much more often.

The distance factor has the practical effect of doubling the capacity of our air force or of halving that of a Eurasian air force.

The geographical advantage to the U. S. in air defense is equally pronounced. The direct routes from eastern Siberia, North Cape and Kamchatka pass over Alaska or the Aleutian Islands.

The direct line from Kamchatka is more than 3500 miles, while a long dog-leg to the Pacific Northwest over the Pacific to avoid the Aleutian Islands is about 4300 miles. A long dog-leg from North Cape to avoid Alaska and to come down through central Canada to Chicago is about 4500 miles.

The shortest air route to the United States from the east is from Murmansk. The distances are about 4000 miles to New York and 4400 miles to Chicago.

The routes from Murmansk cross over Greenland, Baffin Island, Labrador and Canada, and then for several hundred miles over the United States. It should be possible, from radar stations on Greenland and on Baffin Island, to obtain warning of enemy approach 2000 miles out of New York City. Substantial progress has been made in establishing these stations.

Routes from eastern Europe which would cross the Atlantic south of Greenland are longer. It is about 4500 miles from Lithuania or Czechoslovakia to New York. The northern route would cross Sweden and Norway and give warning, while a more southerly one would cross Germany and Scotland.

It is impossible to select a route in this area that will not cross territory of our European allies, no matter how far off the direct course the flight is made.

The direct air routes to the United States from either the east or west cover a width of only about 800 miles on the west in the vicinity of Alaska and the Aleutian Islands.

This simplifies the American defensive problem enormously. It means that distant advanced warning can be provided against direct routes of attack from the east and west by covering a space of only 1800 miles. This compares with the Soviet problem of covering 14,000 miles to gain warning.

To evade these distant warning installations a hostile power could fly a dog-leg course. This would, of course, greatly increase the distances. This is the justification for patrolling the Pacific between the Hawaiian Islands and Aleutians, for patrolling off the Atlantic and Pacific coasts with airborne radar planes.

It also is the justification for radar patrols between Greenland and Iceland, between Iceland and the Faroe Islands, and between the Faroes and the Shetlands.

At the present time, interceptor speeds have advanced faster than bomber speeds, and the use of air-to-air homing rockets has greatly increased the power of the interceptor to kill.

On the other hand, the bomber cannot use the air-to-air rocket for defense. The bomber is attacked from the rear and must fire backward. The initial speed of the rocket is decreased by the forward speed of the bomber so that it drops and loses its course.

Some time in the not distant future our survival may depend upon solving defense problems which do not yet press upon us but which do loom on the dark horizon.

The two most critical ones in air defense are improvement of guided missiles and radar. A few years hence, when the offensive power of the air-atomic combination is stalemated, an effective defense may become the great deterrent to war.

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

(NEA Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — President Eisenhower's new proposal for a "Coordinator of Public Works" in the White House executive office is of interest to every state, city, town, county and water district in the United States.

The plan was first mentioned in the President's State of the Union Message to Congress. Further details are revealed in the President's Economic Report to Congress. But the full program has not yet been spelled out because the planning has not been completed. Some preliminaries, however, can be revealed.

The big question is how much authority the new Coordinator of Public Works will have. The federal government already has a number of agencies dealing with public works. They include Bureau of Reclamation in Department of Interior, Army Corps of Engineers, Bureau of Public Roads in Commerce Department, Department of Agriculture finances small watershed development. General Services Administration lets contracts for government building, and so on.

IF THE NEW COORDINATOR of Public Works is to boss all these multimillion-dollar programs, the agencies aren't going to like it.

There is no task force in ex-President Herbert Hoover's Commission on Government Reorganization which is considering any project that would bring all these public works activities into one agency. What is contemplated, therefore, is apparently a loose coordination rather than tight administration by a public works czar.

While the President's Economic Report oozes optimism on every page, the one big hedge recommended for use in case of depression or recession is for centralized public works planning. The idea is to have ready at all times a shelf of public projects which could be started if economic pump priming is needed.

This basic idea, federal financing for state and local government public works planning is not new.

At the end of World War II, when there was great fear that there would be a major depression, two advance planning programs were approved by Congress. Eighty-nine million dollars were appropriated and $75 million advanced to local governments. This money was to finance the planning of school, sewer, street or other construction projects.

THE THEORY WAS THAT this money would be paid back to the federal government after the local governments had financed their public works by tax levy or bond issue. But all this work was stopped when the Korean war broke out in 1950.

Last year, when there was considerable unemployment and fear of another recession, the Eisenhower administration revived this idea for local public works planning.

The President asked for a $50 million revolving fund appropriation to finance public works planning. Congress authorized $10 million and appropriated $1.5 million, last August.

A Community Facilities Administration was set up in the Housing and Home Finance Agency to handle the program. John A. Hazeltine was made its director, under Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole.

TO DATE, HOWEVER, not a single advance of funds has been made to any local government for public works planning. Over 300 local agencies have made inquiries and 215 of them are filling out the necessary papers to see if they can qualify for federal government financing of their plans.

During the past year the Council of Economic Advisers has taken the lead in general public works planning. A Coordinator of Public Works Planning was actually set up in the CEA organization, with a $35,000 appropriation to run his office. Maj.-Gen. John S. Bragdon, a retired deputy chief of the Army Corps of Engineers was made coordinator. He borrowed two assistants from other government agencies and with this small staff began a survey of federal, state and local government public works.

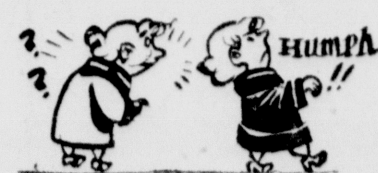

So far, General Bragdon's office has only made a catalogue of public works projects being planned. He has come up with the information that about $12 billion will be spent on public works this year, but that there is only a small backlog of local government public works plans in the blueprint stage, ready to go in case of another depression.

Red Convicted In Chicago Test

CHICAGO (AP) — Communist Claude Lightfoot was convicted Wednesday in a test of a law holding that membership in the Communist party, while knowing its aims, is a crime.

widely watched, precedent-setting case was read in Federal Court.

The 44-year-old Negro's trial was the first test of a provision of the Smith Act which says mere membership in an organization, knowing that it advocates violent overthrow of the U.S. government, is a crime.

Lightfoot, secretary of the Communist party of Illinois, is the first individual to be tried under the Smith Act. Heretofore, prosecutions based on the act have been against groups of Communists charged with conspiracy against the government.

Lightfoot faces a possible maximum sentence of 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

A defense motion for a new trial was set for hearing Feb. 15 at which time sentence will be pronounced, if the motion is denied.

NEGATIVE VALUE

Everybody knows the value of aces and kings—but at times the knowledge can be a great liability. That is, if a player has too high a veneration for these cards, he is unlikely even to think about the sort of defensive coup that East brought off in the following case.

3 NT Pass Pass Pass

West opened the heart six: East won and returned the heart five West took declarer's jack and continued with the four of hearts. East, forced to discard, gave profound thought to the situation—and came up with a brilliant play: he discarded the king of diamonds.

This highly strategic sacrifice by East was declarer's undoing, for now South could not possibly establish his long diamond suit without giving the lead to West, and since South could not win enough tricks otherwise, he had to surrender.

East's play speaks for itself when we analyze what would have happened if he had not discarded the diamond king. South, an expert, undoubtedly would have maneuvered as follows:

South wins the third heart lead, and assume that East discards a club. South then goes to the spade king and returns a diamond. His best chance to keep West off lead is to take the single finesse, and when the queen holds, he returns to dummy with a spade and plays another diamond. When East follows suit with the king, it is an extremely simple matter for South to duck, thus insuring that he can run the rest of the suit while simultaneously shutting out the dangerous hand, West. (Obviously, the same result would be secured if East, having failed to discard the diamond king, puts that card up on the first lead from dummy. South simply gives him the trick.)

Suited For Spring: Long Torso

Longer waistlines, narrower shoulders, higher bust and smooth hips characterize the Spring suit for 1955. Beige wool by Harry Frechtel (left) has semi-fitted jacket, straight skirt, wide collar with linen overlay. Claire McCordell uses camel-colored wool (center) for skirt and jacket with blouse and lining in vivid stripes on white. Adele Simpson's straight and narrow suit in gray (right) demonstrates the longer jacket achieved through use of narrower shoulders and lapels, tiny waist and slim sleeves with tiny cuffs.

By GAILE DUGAS NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The long torso line is the line that's all-important to the spring suit. A longer waistline, higher bust, slim hips and narrow shoulders typify this suit, which has a very different look from its predecessors of other springs.

While some suit jackets actually are an inch or two longer, the longer look is chiefly an illusion created through use of narrow shoulders and lapels, buttons to the hemline, and the higher bustline.

Semi-fitted and straight box jackets get the biggest play but the bloused silhouette with buckled belt is evident, too.

Most suit skirts are slim this year but there are some pleated skirts shown with the longer length jacket. But even the pleated skirts retain the smooth hipline, fanning out just enough to allow for walking ease.

The costume look has been borrowed for suits: the bolero jacket, the short jacket over sheath, the torso overblouse. Most often, the blouse is matched to the silk of a jacket lining.

War Hero Back; Gives Up Bars

NEW YORK (AP)—Jake William Lindsey, whose heroism in World War II won him a Medal of Honor, is a master sergeant again after wearing a second lieutenant's bars for more than two years.

The 33-year-old soldier gave up his commission when he returned from Germany last week and was discharged. He was sworn back into the service as a master sergeant Tuesday.

"I'm just a sergeant at heart," he commented.

"I just think I can do a better job in the Army as a sergeant. I talk like a sergeant. If you are an officer, that kind of talk don't go with recruits in the new Army."

Lindsey, who commanded an infantry platoon in Germany, said he hopes to get back with the paratroopers. He served with them in Korea before being commissioned at Ft. Benning, Ga., in 1952.

Except for a year and a half after World War II and the five days between his discharge and Tuesday's re-enlistment when he signed up at his home town of Shubuta, Miss., Lindsey has been in the Army since 1940.

A routine physical examination turned up the possibility that Lindsey might have diabetes and almost wrecked his re-enlistment plans. Authorities, however, soon decided this would not apply to a Medal of Honor winner.

The person who is right never has to resort to a game of bluff.

Geese Outfox Fox

NORTH KINGSTON, R.I. (AP)—Richmond Viall Jr. says he heard the family pet geese honking loudly the other night. On investigation he saw seven geese surrounding a hole in the ice of a nearby pond.

The following day, he said, he went to the hole and found the body of a 14-pound fox.

His deduction is that the fox fell into the pond while stalking the geese and the geese kept him in the water until he drowned.

Limping Goose

by Frank Gruber
COPYRIGHT 1954 BY FRANK GRUBER. DISTRIBUTED BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: The only clue, apparently, in the murder of Jess Carmichael III is a "goose bank" which was given to Johnny Fletcher and Sam Cragg, by Alice Cummings. Johnny and Sam were collecting a long overdue bill from Alice and she was short of cash. She gave them the bank. Johnny is playing detective again and so he pays a call on Jess Carmichael, Sr., wealthy father of the murder victim.

X
The guard talked again into the phone, then came out and pressed a button that swung open the gates.

The limousine rolled up a curved drive and stopped before a pile of dressed stone that was worth roughly half a million, give or take a hundred thousand.

"May be a while," Johnny said to the chauffeur of the hired car. They walked up to the front door. Johnny leaned on the door button. The chimes were still bonging inside when a liveried butler opened the door.

"Mr. Fletcher?"
"That's right, Wilkins. I just stopped in to offer my condolences to Jess."

"It's a very sad thing, sir," said the butler. "Mr. Carmichael is taking it very badly."

"That's only natural,"
The butler consulted a leather booklet in his hand. "I'm afraid I don't have your name here, sir."

Johnny looked at him blankly. "Are you supposed to have it?"
"Yes, sir, you see, there are so many people who try to call on Mr. Carmichael that he found it necessary to make up a list of his friends to whom he is in."

"And my name isn't in the book? Well, what do you know about that?"

"If you could tell me the nature of your business, Joseph, at the gate, said that—that you were a customer. Well, Joseph said that your car—"

"If I'd come up in anything smaller I suppose I couldn't even have gotten this far?"

"I didn't mean that, sir. It's only that . . ." The butler again took refuge in his leather book. "Are you a friend of Mr. Carmichael's?"

"From the look of things," Johnny said coldly, "I guess I'm not." He paused, then added sarcastically. "But if it isn't asking too much of you, I'd appreciate it if you'd just step in and tell Jess that Johnny Fletcher is here."

"And your business?"
Johnny turned and struck Sam violently on the shoulder. "Now, how do you like that?" He turned back to Wilkins. "Tell Jess that I'm a customer of his. Tell him that. And if he still doesn't want to see me, that's that."

The butler walked off, crossing the large wide hall and entering a door which he closed behind him. He was gone four or five minutes, then returned.

"Mr. Carmichael will see you in the library."

He led the way through a drawing room, another hall, then opened a pine-paneled room and stood aside. Johnny and Sam went into the library, a room some 20 by 30 feet in size, lined with bookshelves containing mostly leather-bound and other unread books.

Jess Carmichael was seated in a large green leather chair. Across the room, a younger man stood examining the tooling on some of the leather volumes. Carmichael looked at Johnny, frowning. "Fletcher?"

"That's right, Mr. Carmichael. May I offer my condolences . . . ?"

Carmichael made an impatient gesture of dismissal. "I never saw you before in my life."

"Neither have I seen you, sir."

"Why'd you tell Wilkins you were an old friend?"

"I never told him anything of the kind."

Carmichael scowled. "I never forget a name or a face. Fletcher? No, I'm certain. I've never done business with you."

"Oh, yes, you have," Johnny said. "I've been a customer of yours for a good many years."

"Ridiculous! I'm the only man in my entire organization who knows the name of every customer we've got. What stores do you represent?"

"None, but—"
"Then who are you?"

"A customer. I've bought at your stores for 20 years, more or less. Not only in New York, but in other cities."

A strange expression came over Jess Carmichael's face—an expression much like that of a man who has bitten into an apple and discovered therein a half of a fat worm.

"You're a retail customer?"

The young man turned from the bookshelves and studied Johnny Fletcher thoughtfully.
Johnny said, "That's right. And I've always been a booster of the Carmichael Stores. Your prices have been good, your merchandise has been fine. Up until recently, I think you should know, however, that I'm not satisfied with your corned beef hash. It used to be that there was plenty of good red meat in a can, but I bought one last week on 45th Street—Store No. 1144, in case you're interested—and I had to search for the meat. Potatoes, that's all there was in the can.

Controls Set Up For Corn In 1955

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson will announce this week a 1955 production control program increasing corn planting allotments several million acres over the 1954 goal.

The allotments for the commercial corn area—comprising nearly 850 major corn producing counties in the Midwest, East and Southeast—are expected to be between 50 and 52 million acres. Allotments last year totaled 46,995,000 acres.

Last year, about 60 per cent of the producers of this major livestock feed grain ignored the control program and planted more than their allotments. Officials expect the same thing to happen this year.

Farm law requires the secretary to set up allotments, except in times of emergency, for six designated basic crops: corn, wheat, cotton, tobacco, rice and peanuts.

The acreage allotments are voluntary in operation. The penalty for non-compliance is denial of government price supports on the affected crop.

Last year, the total corn acreage—that in the commercial as well as outside the commercial area—totaled about 82 million acres, nearly 10 million more than the department's goal.

But severe drought in many areas held total production down, and no oversupply was produced. The crop was 2,964,000,000 bushels compared with 3,192,000,000 bushels on about the same acreage the year before.

Benson also may announce this week the rate at which the government will support grower prices of the 1955 corn crop.

potatoes and here and there a tenty-weeny bit of the old corned beef. . . ."

Jess Carmichael bounded out of his chair. He took two quick steps toward Johnny, then stopped. There was a wild look in his eyes.

"Who—who sent you here?"

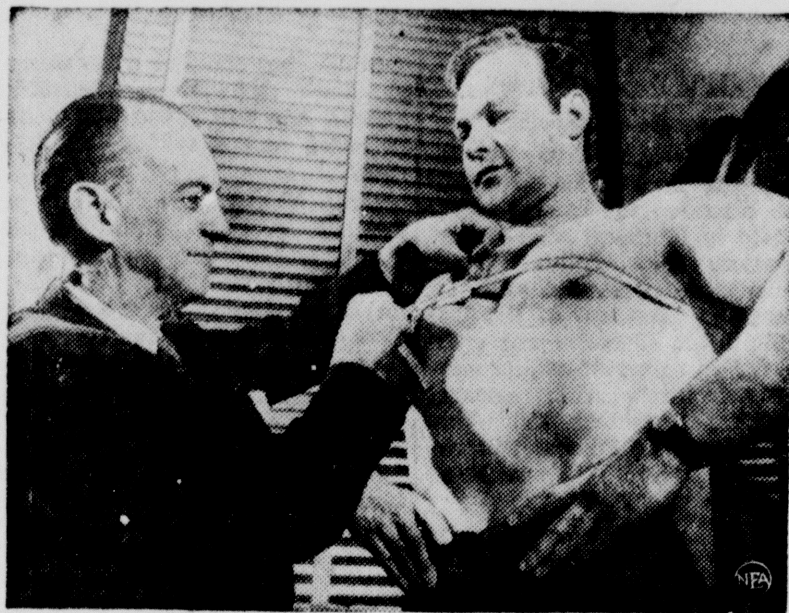

"No one. I came on my own. Uh, this is my friend, Sam Cragg."

"Harya, Mr. Carmichael," said Sam, extending his hand.

Truck Drivers Win Pay Pacts

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The AFL Teamsters Union claimed it has just won for truck drivers in 22 states an assured steady employment such as the CIO is trying to get from the auto industry.

Details of the recently signed labor contracts, covering 175,000 drivers in the Midwest, South and Southwest, were disclosed at the Teamsters Union executive board's winter meeting by James R. Hoffa, a union vice president.

Hoffa, who hails from Detroit, the auto production center on which the CIO is centering a drive this year for its guaranteed annual wage plan, personally negotiated the new six-year teamsters union agreement.

One contract covering more than 100,000 city cartage drivers in a dozen Midwest states sets a new minimum wage of $2.24 to $2.49 an hour. It provides that most drivers, once they start a week's work, must be paid for a full 40-hour week whether they actually work that long or not. This amounts to an $89.60 guaranteed weekly wage.

In three other contracts covering interstate "road" or long-haul drivers in 22 states, employers are required to guarantee a $75 weekly wage.

"This is our practical solution to part-time employment," Hoffa told reporters. "It means our men are assured a minimum amount of work on a minimum amount of pay."

Agencies Trimmed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government departments and agencies have been ordered to examine all their activities that compete with private enterprise and decide which can be "reasonably ended." Budget Director Rowland R. Hughes, in a memo made public Tuesday night, urged that all federal business activities be ended unless "it would not be in the public interest."

When the United States declared its independence in 1776 there were 10 colleges in the country.

YUMMY YAMS—These three champion yam growers from South Carolina are about to sample the world's largest yam pie. The boys, visiting New York as the guests of a national chain food store are: W. J. Gray, Jr., 11; Jimmy Ray Hammond, 12; and Cecil Oates, 11. The pie measures 28 inches across and contains more than half a bushel of the boys' blue-ribbon yams.

Detroit Policemen Freed In Bribe Case When Witness Balks

DETROIT (AP)—Bribery charges against three more policemen were dismissed Tuesday when a former officer, a grand jury witness, refused to talk in court.

The three for whom bribe charges were dismissed were the last of the group of 18 policemen indicted by the grand jury of Recorder's Judge John P. O'Hara. The three still face police trial board action.

In all instances witnesses had refused to testify in court and the charges were dropped.

Fraser resigned as a patrolman Dec. 3 rather than face a police trial board in its investigation of the gambling graft reported by the grand jury.

Story About $60,000 Lansing Inheritance Revealed As Hoax

LANING (AP)—The story told by a Michigan youth, who asked Chicago police to help find a sister to share in a $60,000 estate, was revealed as a hoax Wednesday.

David Wrigglesworth, 21, who gave his address as Manton, Mich., told police his father, Oswald, a coal yard owner, had died and left a $60,000 estate. He said he was looking for a sister, Mrs. Betty Coon, 20, to share it.

A similarity in names led the Lansing State Journal to locate the father working at a Lansing coal yard. The father said he has a son David and a daughter, Betty Coon, of Salt Lake City, Utah.

"But I'm not dead," the father said, "and you can bet that if I had $60,000 I wouldn't be shoveling coal."

The father said his son left Lansing by bus to live with the sister in Utah.

"It sounds just like one of the stories he would make up," the father said.

Budget Is Set For Legion Meet

A budget of $6,500 to $7,500 will be established to finance the U. P. American Legion convention in Manistique June 16-19, Fred H. Hahne, general chairman, reported today.

Contracts now are being prepared for entertainment during the convention, he said.

A highlight will be performances by the American Legion Zouaves, who have performed in Europe and on TV shows, including Ed Sullivan's "Toasts of the Town." They currently are in Hollywood making a movie with Danny Kaye.

Other entertainers coming will include the Charles Young Drum and Bugle corps of Detroit and the Canadian Sault bagpipe band. Other visiting entertainment also is planned.

The convention promises to be one of the biggest ever held in Manistique, Hahne stated, and one of the largest Legion conventions held in Upper Michigan.

The Manistique committee in charge now is meeting regularly to complete plans.

Plans Underway For Elks Pin Tournery Here

Plans now are being made for a tournament of bowlers who will be here for the U. P. Elks bowling tournament, which begins Feb. 19, Fred H. Hahne, general chairman, reports.

The largest entry to date was made by the Hancock Lodge, which has entered eight teams. Five teams from Escanaba and some Manistique teams will be entered, as well as teams from other Upper Michigan cities.

The tournament will conclude here March 13. Last year the Elks tournament was held in Hancock.

Briefly Told

Youth Group—St. Alban's Episcopal youth group will meet in the church basement tonight at 7.

Choir Practice—The First Baptist Church choir will practice in the church at 7:15 tonight.

Surgical Dressings—Group 2 of surgical dressings committee of the Hospital Auxiliary will meet at 2 p. m., Friday in the dining room of Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital.

Discuss Insurance—Insurance requirements on vehicles of the Schoolcraft County road commission were discussed at the commission's regular meeting this week. Bids now are being asked on fleet liability, fleet fire, and general liability insurance.

Direct Relief Payments Total $28,646 In 1954

Direct relief payments in Schoolcraft county in 1954 totaled $28,646.72, and hospitalization and transportation for welfare clients cost $9,170.86, according to a report submitted this week by Miss Maria Tracy, welfare director, to the County Board of Supervisors.

The county direct relief fund during the past year consisted of a Jan. 1, 1954 balance of $1,702.85, state fund payments of $12,200, a county contribution of $14,171.11, and refunds from other counties totaling $6,268.54. The fund showed a balance on hand of $4,000.01 on Dec. 31, with outstanding relief orders of $786.21 listed as accounts payable.

Schoolcraft welfare costs also are handled through a county welfare fund, which this year included a $80,000 county allocation, as well as a $62.30 balance from Jan. 1, $1,001.77 transferred as the county's 50 per cent share of direct relief refunds, and other refunds totaling $481.81. A minus balance of $266.29 was shown in the fund, due to a payment on an accrued hospital bill.

Hospitalization Costs

Expenses to the fund in addition to hospitalization were $197.50 for funerals and administration costs of $9,244.79. A transfer of $14,171.11 also was made from the county welfare fund, to the direct relief fund.

The county welfare fund showed accounts payable of $6,514.50 to Schoolcraft Memorial hospital and $713 to other county hospitals at the close of the year.

Hospitalization costs to the Department of Social Welfare in the past year were listed as follows: Schoolcraft Mem. Hosp. $5,809.55 University Hospital ..... 280.35 Ambulance Service ..... 108.36 Rehabilitation (to be refunded) ..... 26.50 Supplement to Oaa ..... 138.50 Out-county Hospitals ..... 1,169.95

Conservation Teaching In Schools Is Urged

Students should learn about today as well as the "long-dead past," Doris Curran, Michigan Department of Conservation regional chief for Upper Michigan, declared here Tuesday night in urging a program of integrated conservation teaching in Michigan schools.

Curran was the principal speaker at a meeting of the Schoolcraft county Sportsmen's club during which other conservation department officials outlined the 1955 legislative program advocated by the department.

Curran said three meetings are scheduled in Upper Michigan—at Marquette Feb. 16, Iron Mountain Feb. 17 and Newberry Feb. 15—to draft plans with teachers for use of resource personnel and teaching aids in presenting conservation practices and principles to students. Similar meetings are planned elsewhere in the state, he said, to plan the integration of conservation in school subjects.

Must Conserve

Both the Michigan Department of Public Instruction and the Conservation department will work with schools on the project, Curran noted. Business, industry, sportsmen's groups, service clubs, officials of public agencies and newspaper and radio representatives have been asked to attend the meetings, he stated.

Letters asking representatives to attend are being sent, Curran said. Persons in the Manistique and Schoolcraft county area will be asked to attend the Newberry meeting.

Upper Michigan has been favored by being endowed with numerous natural resources, but "we must be careful how we deal with them, especially the non-replaceable natural resources, such as oil and water," Curran pointed out.

New Industrial Processes

In the early history of our country white pine forests were denuded in a wasteful way, prairie land was overworked until it became a dustbowl, and in other areas top soil was depleted until it no longer would grow, he explained.

"We are still polluting water," he noted, adding that Lake Superior, one of the largest bodies of fresh water, is in danger of becoming over polluted. "This is because all towns except Marquette, which built a sewage plant last year, still dump sewage into it, and because of recent industrial developments," the conservation official said.

Beneficiation processes for utilization of low grade ores will result in the return of much polluted water into Lake Superior, and so will the copper mining process at White Pine, Curran pointed out. The White Pine mining process, discovered in Germany in World War II, also could cause "smog" such as that in Los Angeles, Calif., and Denver, Pa., recently, Curran stated. The mine has a 450-foot stack, the second highest in the world, and anticipates that it is high enough to prevent extreme pollution before the air reaches plant life, he explained.

"But the air pollution resulting from the White Pine mining process could destroy every tree in Porcupine Mountain state park and other plant life, Curran declared. He added that a six-mile area around Sudbury, Ont., is a "biological desert" due to fumes from a smelter.

"If only we could see ahead of our actions and realize that conservation is a way of life and that our natural resources should not be used by one segment or group of society to the detriment of others," he declared. "Our natural resources are the basis for our way of life, and all starts with the soil," he pointed out.

Legislative Program

The speaker also noted that the conservation department is asking that sportsmen's groups assist in providing scholarships for school teachers who wish to take conservation courses at the Northern Michigan College of Education summer school on Munuscong Bay.

The Conservation department's legislative program was explained by Bernard Stephansky, regional supervisor of field administration. The program includes continuance of the department's discretionary power over the deer herd in Lower Michigan, abolishing the fox bounty, reducing the trout daily creel limit to eight, shortening the trout season so it opens the second Saturday in May and closes Labor Day, authorization to establish areas of state land for experimental management of certain game species, and providing an annual car window sticker for $2 to sell to state park patrons in order to obtain money for park improvements.

Other conservation officials here for the meeting were Glenn Gregg, regional supervisor of parks; Arthur Feldhauser, lake and stream improvement technician; Paul Challancin, regional supervisor of education; James Scully, regional supervisor of fish; Leland Anderson, district fish supervisor, and Carl Makel, district forester.

Maple Syrup Meet Scheduled Friday

A meeting on all phases of maple syrup production will be held at 1:30 p. m., Friday at the courthouse here with Prof. P. W. Robbins of Michigan State college in charge.

Charts and slides will be used to show equipment needs, production costs, quality production, syrup marketing and sugar bush care. The meeting is designed both for producers and those planning to establish a new bush.

Prof. Robbins, who has traveled extensively along the East Coast to study the maple syrup industry, states there is a good opportunity for developing a thriving syrup industry in the Upper Peninsula.

"The numerous young, thrifty stands of maple trees in the area, the market outlet provided by the growing tourist trade, and the overmaturity of sugar bushes in other areas favor Upper Peninsula production," he points out.

Hospital Cites Problem Of Over-Occupancy; 1,691 Patients In '54

Though Schoolcraft Memorial hospital's capacity was increased with an 8-bed addition, the problem of over-occupancy remained in 1954, the hospital board of trustees reported to the County Board of Supervisors during its session here this week.

The addition appeared to attract more patients rather than reduce the patient overload, the hospital board of trustees stated in its report. The hospital operated with a 20 per cent increase in beds due to the addition, but total occupancy went down only 10 per cent, and the medical-surgical unit of 32 beds in operating over 90 per cent, they reported.

During the year, 1,691 patients were admitted, as compared with 1,674 in 1953. The patient total is in addition to 267 babies born at the hospital during the past year.

Surgery Decreases

The average daily census in 1954 ranged from a low of 28.3 in July to a high of 35.8 in September, and averaged 32.3 patients. The percentage of occupancy ranged from 71 per cent in January to 89.4 in September, with an average of 80.7 per cent. Eighty per cent is considered the maximum operating percentage for providing optimum quality patient care, the trustees stated. In 1953, the percentage of occupancy averaged 91.9.

The hospital figures showed that 75.2 per cent of the patients came from Schoolcraft county and 24.8 per cent from other areas.

Out-patient visits in the past year totaled 789, minor surgery, 292 cases, and major surgery, 274.

In 1954 there were a total of 566 surgical procedures handled at the hospital, as compared with 606 in 1953. The average length of patient stay was seven days in 1954, as compared with 6.7 in 1953.

Several Improvements

Total revenue earned by the hospital last year was $204,054.13 and total expenses were $187,636.88, leaving $16,417.25 excess of revenue over expense. In 1953, receipts totaled $178,319.56, with $9,973.84 excess of revenue over expense.

The hospital has 38 full time and five part-time employees. Its total payroll for the year was $95,323.97 or nearly $8,000 per month.

Improvements to grounds and buildings during the past year included reseeding and planting of shrubbery, solarium drapes hung to reduce glare, installation of a ceiling fan in the kitchen, and installation of an air conditioner, donated by Inland Lime and Stone company, in the operating room.

Other gifts included a croup tent from the Women's Hospital Auxiliary and a television set from the American Legion and its Auxiliary.

United Efforts Praised

Because the field of medical and hospital care is continually changing and improving, there is a trend toward increased cost, trustees pointed out. A number of health insurance companies raised premiums in the past year, and more are expected to increase them this year, they reported.

Though many hospitals throughout the country had to increase rates to meet higher costs, Schoolcraft Memorial hospital has not had to raise rates during the past year, trustees pointed out. "It continues to remain one of the hospitals with the lowest rates in the Upper Peninsula," they reported.

The hospitals general fund balance sheet showed total assets of $79,423.64, including cash of $39,371.14 and accounts receivable of $43,798.96. Its plant fund showed assets of $388,780.88, which includes U. S. bonds of $10,000, building, $359,998.73; major movable equipment, $65,811.37; and minor equipment, $10,647.08.

In its report, the hospital board noted that "the assistance and co-operation of the persons associated with the hospital, plus the interest and the support of the community, have been responsible for the accomplishment reported this year as well as all previous years. It is this unified effort that holds even greater promise for our hospital's future."

Rooftoppers Post Cage Win Over CIO

The Rooftoppers put 25 field goals through the nets here Tuesday night to take a 70-62 win over the CIO city league cage team. Scharstrom bucketed six field goals to lead in scoring for the Rooftoppers with 19 points. Sheahan and Winsor hit for 11 each and Thompson for 10.

Ed Patz netted 22 points for CIO on seven field goals and eight free throws. The only other CIO player hitting in double-figures was Lowery with 15 points.

The CIO eagles led by slim margins in the first and second quarters but slipped behind after a third quarter rally in which the Rooftoppers netted 24 points to lead 54 to 49.

Brief Rejects Plea From Wilkowski To Regain Senate Seat

LANSING (AP)—Att. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh Tuesday filed a brief rejecting Sen.-elect Anthony J. Wilkowski's arguments that the Senate should give him back the seat it voted to take away from him.

The Senate refused to seat Wilkowski, a Detroit Democrat, on the grounds that he was unfit for office because of a 19-year-old conviction for an election recount fraud.

The attorney general asked the Supreme Court to turn down Wilkowski's petition for a writ of mandamus to force Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart to swear him into office.

Kavanagh's brief argued that Wilkowski was trying by indirectness to compel the Senate to mandamus the Senate itself, and held the courts have no right to force the Legislature to do anything.

Can't figure out what's keeping the hockey fans away from the Escanaba Hawks' games this season... With one of the best teams here in recent years, the Hawks are barely able to keep their heads above water financially... The current edition of the Escanaba Hawks is one of the scrappiest teams ever to wear the gold and black uniforms and is at present challenging for the top spot in the tough Northern Michigan-Ontario standings.

Other teams in the league are reaping the benefits of Escanaba's vastly improved hockey team... The Hawks have drawn near-2,000 crowds at Marquette and De Stadium in Houghton and fans are eager for the hustling sextet to reappear... But at home they are lucky to draw a 500 crowd on a good night... With the brand of hockey they've been playing it would seem that crowds of over 700 would be more natural.

We asked Jim McNicoll, business manager, how the team was doing financially... "Not so hot," was his curt reply... "If we can't get at least 750 fans out for Saturday night's game against the Marquette Sentinels we'll be in real bad shape. Some of the gates at recent games have been so poor we lose money at home," he explained... Maybe that situation will change, with the Hawks surging into a ranking position in Upper Peninsula hockey circles.

In a quick switch from winter to summer sports, here's an interesting item from Rapid River... Dick Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Miller of Rapid River, is captain of the St. Thomas College (St. Paul, Minn.) swimming team... St. Thomas last year won the MIAC swimming championship... This is Dick's third year on the team and he swims the individual medley and breaststroke... In high school at St. Norbert of West DePere, Dick played four years of football, hockey and baseball, and two years of basketball... He also played two years with the St. Thomas baseball team as a pitcher but was sidelined with a sore arm last year.

Braves Get Set For Weekend Double Bill

GLADSTONE—The Gladstone Braves get back into action this weekend after a 10-day layoff, traveling to Ishpeming on Friday evening and entertaining Newberry here Saturday night.

The Hematites, while not up to their usual high standard the early part of the season, have shown great improvement, since the holidays and Coach Eldon Keil is expecting a tough battle.

The Newberry Indians, victims of the Braves in a pre-holiday tilt, are also expected to extend the Braves.

Coach Keil is using his regular group of starters: Capt. John Quinn at center, Roger Carlson and Norman Butler at forwards, and Larry Feldt and Jack Beach at guards. In reserve will be J. C. Miller, Tom Brewer, Charles Cole, Dennis Artley, Jerry Leander and Jeri Anderson.

Kansas Rookies Nothing To Get Worked Up About

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—With the exception of a couple of pitchers, an outfielder and one or two infielders, the Kansas City Athletics' rookie list is not one to induce manager Lou Boudreau to do hand springs.

There are several bright prospects among the 17 newcomers, however. One is Art Caccarelli, a 24-year-old Southpaw drafted from the Yankees' chain in Kansas City. He had a 15-12 record last year and struck out an imposing total of 161 in 219 innings.

Bob Spicer of Los Angeles, 29-year-old right-hander, won 13 and lost 16 with a second division club. The record of Cloyd Boyer of Columbus was only 2-3 but if his arm is sound again, he can prove to be a $10,000 bargain. The 27-year-old right-hander showed promise of becoming a fine pitcher with the St. Louis Cardinals several years ago until an arm injury all but ruined his pitching career.

The Kaycee brass is high on a kid named Walter Craddock, who turned in an impressive 12-9 record at Savannah in his first year in organized baseball.

By far the best looking prospects are Joe Taylor, a slugging outfielder and Hector Lopez, a hustling Negro infielder. Taylor batted .323 at Ottawa, third highest in the league, walked 23 homers and drove in 79 runs.

Lopez was a standout both at bat and in the field with Ottawa. He batted .316, led the third basemen with a .960 fielding percentage and he showed speed on the bases by stealing 10 sacks.

RAPID RIVER ROCKETS — The Rapid River High School cage team, rated one of the strongest of the "small" school quints in the Upper Peninsula, is pushing for contention in the Central League standings. Coach Roger Carlson's Rockets have won six against a lone loss

Rock Suffers First Defeat To Negaunee St. Paul Team

NEGAUNEE—The list of undefeated Upper Peninsula high school basketball teams was cut to three here last night when the Rock Little Giants bowed for the first time this season to Negaunee St. Paul, 61-47.

Coach Bob Peikie's Rock caged had won nine straight before tasting defeat. Still unbeaten in the U. P. are Iron River, Mass and Houghton.

Rock trailed 9-6 at the end of the first period and 29-16 at the end of the first half. The Little converted 15 of 26.

Rock's victims this season included eight straight Central League foes and the Little Giants are perched atop the league standings with a perfect record.

The 47 point production for the Little Giants was the second lowest this season. They hit 46 in a 46-34 victory over Eben recently.

The Rock reserve team also lost last night in the preliminary game, 67-46.

Rock entertains Nahma Friday night.

Undue Criticism Aimed At New Bonus Cage Rule

NEW YORK (AP)—Despite the gripes of coaches, fans and writers, statistics are on the side of the bonus rule — which according to figures released today by the NCAA Service Bureau has been taking a bum rap in major college basketball.

Opponents of the rule, designed to reduce fouling by awarding a bonus free throw attempt when a player makes his first try at the foul line, have blasted it as detrimental to the game. They claim it has overshadowed field goal importance and failed to lessen fouls.

Statistics show that scoring is on a rise in major college basketball, as it has been in the past few seasons — but most of the scoring increase has come from the field, not the foul line.

What's more, fouls have been cut to the lowest total in the past six years thus far in the 1954-55 season.

With defending team champion Furman rolling right along and in position to become the first team in major college history to average 100 points a game through a season, the national college scoring average is a whopping 144.3 points (by both teams) a game. At this time last season the two - team game average was 136.6.

The extra scoring boost breaks down to 2.7 more field goals (representing 5 1/2 points) a game and 2.3 more free throws. The game average is 50.6 field goals and 43.1 free throws.

The only pre-season prediction on bonus rule that more attention would be paid to foul shooting is borne out. The national free throw percentage is 65.7 — an all-time high.

Field goal accuracy also has jumped — 36.7 per cent now as compared to 35.5 a year ago.

National Football League Meet Opens

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Football League opened its annual business meeting today, giving Commissioner Bert Bell a free hand in negotiating "peace with honor" with Canadian football.

With the unanimous approval of NFL directors, Bell said he would try to work out "a just and honorable peace. We did not start this thing and we are not afraid. We don't plan to turn the other cheek."

Actually, the NFL's war is against one club — the Toronto Argonauts, who are determined to hire and talk business with any NFL player they choose. The other members of the Big Four League — Hamilton, Montreal and Ottawa — have entered into a semi-official no-raiding agreement.

Argos Sign Shipp

The Argos, picked the eve of the NFL session to announce the signing of Billy Shipp, 275 - pound tackle of the New York Giants, Shipp is the second New Yorker signed by Toronto in as many days.

Other matters under consideration in addition to the player draft, a ritual in which the clubs pluck off available graduating talent; to

1. Three proposed rules changes, the most important suggesting elimination of the conversion and making a touchdown worth seven points.

2. A move to raise the player limit to 35 from 33, opposed by the weaker clubs.

Review TV Policy

3. Review of the television policy now subject to 2-million-dollar anti-trust suit by the bankrupt Liberty Broadcasting System.

Most of today's interest is centered on the "bonus pick," a free choice of all the available college talent by one of the lowest ranking clubs — in this case, one of four, the Pittsburgh Steelers, Green Bay Packers, Chicago Cardinals and Baltimore Colts.

Among the players rated choice pro material are Ralph Guglielmi of Notre Dame, Alan Ameche of Wisconsin, George Shaw of Oregon, Dave Leggett of Ohio State, Dick Mogle of Rice and Ron Drzewiecki of Marquette.

Linemen being eyed by the pros include Notre Dame's Frank Varichione and Sam Palumbo, Max Boydston of Oklahoma and Bill McKenna of Brandeis.

Manistique To Enter Nine Boxers In U. P. Golden Gloves Meet

MANISTIQUE — Annually one of the most successful of the Upper Peninsula boxing clubs, Manistique this year will enter a strong team of veterans and novices in the Golden Gloves championship tournament at Escanaba, starting Monday night at 8:30 at Holy Name High School.

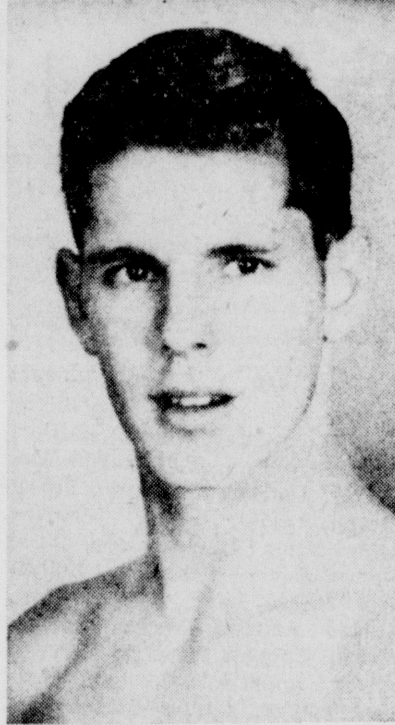

Under the direction of Ed Toya, assisted by Pete Poupour and Wayne Tufnell, the Manistique team has been in strict training for the past several weeks at the Lincoln School gym.

The team will be composed of nine fighters, including three open division scrappers and six novices. Outstanding boxer is the veteran Harvard Lancour, who will compete in the 126-pound open division. Lancour has never been defeated in an Upper Peninsula bout in three years, earned two titles in the Milwaukee Journal tournament and advanced one year to the Tournament of Champions in Chicago.

Lancour is a crowd-pleasing scrapper who throws bombs with both hands and is in constant motion—forward—in the ring.

Harry Nelson, last year's novice champ at 118, will move into the open division at 135 pounds this year. Nelson has added power and punch with his increased weight and height.

A newcomer to the team is Calvin Jones, a lanky 160-pounder who tops 6-feet. He is 24 years old which automatically makes him an open division boxer.

Novice fighters, many of whom boxed in Manistique and Escanaba in the past, include last year's featherweight champion Buddy Holmberg. Holmberg is a left-hook specialist who was a varsity letterwinner on the Manistique High School football team last fall.

Other novices are Gary Tufnell at 125, Loyal Archey and Leo Thomas at 135, Wilbur Lusk at 112 and Conrad Letson at 147.

Plan Rematch After Giardello Gets Win Over Rough Andrews

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Joey Giardello, his plans for an early crack at the middleweight title confounded by a less than spectacular showing in his first outing in four months, looked forward today to a rematch with Al Andrews.

"Sure, I want to fight him again," Joey said in his dressing room after winning a unanimous, but disputed, 10-round decision over Andrews Wednesday night in a rough brawl at Norfolk's Municipal Auditorium.

"One more against Andrews and then I'm ready for Bobo Olson," Giardello said, his right hand encased in a tub of ice and his left eye sporting one of the prettiest shiners you've ever seen.

The two boxers tentatively agreed to a rematch in Baltimore Feb. 8.

Nahma Quints Win Cage Tripleheader

NAHMA — Nahma basketball teams swept a tripleheader here last night as the high school varsity took a top-sided 66-19 win over Grand Marais in the finale.

The Nahma Bees beat the Garden varsity team 24-21 and the Nahma 7-8th grade quint handed Garden's 7-8th graders their first loss, 40-22.

Elmer Seymour, Bernard Newhouse, Duane Poupour and Waie Groleau all scored in double figures for the Arrows.

Seixas And Trabert Reach Aussie Finals

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert, America's victorious Davis Cup team, advanced to the doubles final of the Australian National Tennis tournament today.

They whipped Mervyn Rose and Rex Hartwig of Australia 6-4, 10-12, 6-0, 6-1 in a semifinal struggle.

"There's no doubt I won," Andrews contended bitterly, fighting back tears. "It was the easiest fight I've had in a year. He didn't knock me down. I was off balance."

The knockdown won Giardello the nationally-televised fight. It came in the ninth round when Andrews walked into a wicked left hook and a sharp chopping right.

Up to that point, one judge had Andrews ahead, the other had the fight even. Referee Paddy Mills had it for Giardello all the way.

At the windup of the March of Dimes benefit witnessed by 4,000, Mills scored it 97-82 for Giardello, judge Charles Ford 97-93 and judge John Burton 96-95. The Associated Press had it 96-92 with Andrews ahead through the first six rounds.

The Superior, Wis., youth was pretty much unmarked, although his right eye was puffy. Giardello worked hard on that eye with his most effective punch, a jab.

In the first round the stuffing popped out of one of Giardello's gloves as he was unloading some good jabs. The fight was delayed three minutes until a new glove was found.

Giardello weighed 162, Andrews 159.

Handicapped Furgol To Be Feted Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Ed Furgol, veteran St. Louis professional who won the 1954 U. S. Open golf championship despite a withered left arm, will be honored tonight as the golfer who overcame the biggest handicap and served as the greatest inspiration during the past year.

Furgol will receive the Ben Hogan award at the annual dinner of the Metropolitan Golf Writers Assn.

Hogan, who himself overcame the handicap of a leg - shattering automobile accident which almost took his life, personally will present the award which carries his name.

Nicaragua, Costa Rica Have Many Differences

WASHINGTON—Costa Rica and Nicaragua, whose long feud has now erupted in violence, are next-door neighbors with striking geographic as well as political differences.

Nicaragua, roughly the size of Michigan, is the largest of the six Central American republics, says the National Geographic Society. Costa Rica, after tiny El Salvador, is the smallest. With some 20,000 square miles of territory sandwiched between Nicaragua and Panama, Costa Rica occupies about one-third of the Nicaragua area.

On the other hand, Nicaragua is proportionately the least settled of the long line of states in the gradually tapering land bridge between North and South America. There are only slightly more than a million Nicaraguans compared with approximately 850,000 Costa Ricans.

Hills Vs. Lowland
Most Costa Ricans live in the perpetually springlike central uplands. There, at an altitude of 3,830 feet, lies the capital and cultural and commercial center, San Jose, reported to have been strated by raiding planes.

A majority of the Nicaraguans, including the inhabitants of the capital, Managua, dwell in the warm, steamy Pacific plain framed by volcanoes and dominated by two big lakes. The region, with the great natural waterway of the lakes and the San Juan River outlet to the Caribbean, has offered a convenient east-west transport route since the days of Spanish conquest.

Many of the 'Forty niners, bound for the California goldfields, came this way. When Panama was chosen as the site for the trans-isthmian canal, the Nicaragua canal project was the defeated competitor.

Both Costa Rica and Nicaragua are predominantly agricultural nations, with a rich volcanic soil producing many similar crops including coffee and bananas. But again with a difference.

Only about five percent of Nicaragua's available cropland is in use. Costa Rica, with a dense rural population, is known as the home of "little landers." Many small farmers work independent holdings.

"Ticos" Talk Small
Visitors to Costa Rica remark on the way the little landers refer to nearly everything as small. Taxi drivers, for instance, take you for a "little ride"; the "little cook" prepares a "little meal".

Adding the diminutive "tico" or "tico" to many words has earned Costa Ricans the nickname of Ticos among other Latin Americans. But the Ticos have broad ideas of democracy. Women vote there and men must pay a fine if they fail to use the privilege.

Costa Rica also boasts more teachers than soldiers. The Costa Rican army was abolished in 1948 and replaced by a national police force.

Nicaraguans, too, are proud of a special cultural heritage. Ruben Dario, famous poet and founder of the Spanish-American school of Modernism in art and philosophy, was a native son, born in Metapa, now called Dario in his honor.

Historically, the two neighbors now at loggerheads were once members of an unsuccessful Central American federation.

On gaining independence from Spain in 1821, the five provinces of Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica and El Salvador at first joined the short-lived Mexican empire.

Soon they broke away to form a federated republic. The union — plagued by conflicting nationalisms, economic ideas and at times open warfare — fell apart in the late 1830's. From then on, despite occasional efforts to combine, the Central American nations have been independent republics.

Board Of Education President, Nisbet, To Seek Reelection

FREMONT (P)—Stephen S. Nisbet, of Fremont, president of the State Board of Education, announced he would seek nomination on the Republican ticket and reelection for another six-year term.

Nisbet was appointed to fill a vacancy on the board in 1942 and was reelected for successive terms in 1943 and 1949. He was superintendent of schools at Fremont for 25 years before becoming a vice president of Gerber Baby Foods Co., at Fremont, in 1945.

He has been among those mentioned as a possibility for Republican state chairman, national committeeman or state GOP finance director. His announcement of candidacy for the state board was seen as an indication he would not seek any office in the state GOP organization.

Sent 3,000 Records To Men In Service

LANSING, Mich. (P)—Local people, led by a housewife with a son in the armed forces, have sent more than 3,000 phonograph records to servicemen in Germany, Iceland, Korea and Alaska. Three phonographs and some 1,500 books and magazines also were donated in a "Discs for Doughnuts" campaign started by Mrs. Fred Vanderlip.

A newspaper and radio station joined in the campaign. At one point, the Air Force said it might not be able to furnish space on a plane to transport the gifts. Mrs. Vanderlip offered to pay the $300 shipping charges and then take a job until she could make it up again.

With that word, the Air Force sent a special plane to Lansing to pick up records and books.

New Atomic Clock Tells Time Better Than Sun Or Earth

NEW YORK (P)—An atomic clock described as the most accurate timepiece ever devised — with a possible variation of only one second in 300 years — has been perfected at Columbia University.

It can tell time better than the earth's rotation around the sun and may usher in an era of atomic standard time.

Prof. Charles H. Townes, 39, its inventor, foresees myriad uses for the device such as:

Giving greater precision to radio and television frequencies and to navigation instruments.

Determining whether earth's rotation is slowing down or whether the rotation speed varies from time to time.

Opening the way for more detailed study of molecular and atomic particles.

The new clock is known as a "maser," rhyming with "grazer." This is a contraction of "micro-wave amplification by stimulated emission of radiation."

The Mediterranean cockroach usually lives outdoors, entering houses at night.

"No wonder that mattress we got in the Escanaba Daily Press Want Ads is so hard—somebody's stuffed it full of money!"

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Mary Miller, and daughter, Noreen Pomeroy, who both passed away 18 years ago today, Jan. 27, 1937.

Gone from our home, Oh, how we miss them.
Loving them deeply, their memory we'll keep.
Nor till life ends shall we forget them.
Sacred is the place where they are asleep.

Sadly missed by
Mr. and Mrs. Lester Pomeroy.

In loving memory of our grandmother, Mrs. Mary Miller, and our sister, Noreen Pomeroy, who both passed away 18 years ago today, Jan. 27, 1937.

Gone are the faces we loved so dear,
Silent are the voices we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach.
Sweet to remember they who once were here,
And who, though absent, are just as dear.

Sadly missed by their grandchildren, brothers and sisters.
Mrs. Runar Norman,
Mrs. Kenneth Phillips,

Gas Pressure Drop Interrupts Service

Below zero temperatures this morning in Escanaba brought a loss of gas pressure in the tanks at the city's propane gas plant and resulted in many calls from gas customers before the situation was corrected and the pressure was brought back to normal by 11:15 a. m.

Gas and Steam Superintendent Joe Patrick explained that this was the first difficulty of this nature experienced by the city, and that it is not expected to be repeated although more below zero weather is forecast for tonight.

Gas pressure dropped from the normal 55 pounds to 40 pounds per square inch before the application of heat to the pressure booster at the city gas plant brought pressures up again. Use of gas at Northern Motor Builders, one of the larger commercial users, was cut back this morning during the difficulty.

Patrick said that the city's present supplier of propane gas is believed to have added butane to bring the BTU quality up, and that this addition of butane (plus the effect of cold weather) caused the pressure loss.

Honest Customer Pays $2.45 After 30 Years

Thirty years ago yesterday (Jan. 26, 1925) Roy Goodman sent a statement for $2.45 to Wilfred Tousignant. Goodman, Escanaba druggist, was at that time in Iron Mountain, after operating a business in Gwin in 1923-24.

Today Wilfred Tousignant of Gwin called on Goodman personally in Escanaba and paid the bill.

"I was going through some old papers at home and there was your bill," Tousignant explained to Goodman. "I knew I hadn't paid, so I told my wife that I would pay it the next time I was in Escanaba."

Goodman is thinking about having the bill framed as a reminder of an honest customer.

Some men are so greedy they won't even refuse a second helping of trouble.

Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was a little higher today, but it seemed to be suffering somewhat from its buying spree of Wednesday.

Gains and losses spread over a range of around a point.

Trading dwindled down as prices backed and filled. The pace was less than Wednesday's 3,860,000 shares.

Many individual stocks were strong.

Western Auto Supply was ahead between two and three points on a 100 per cent stock dividend and a higher cash payment.

Studebaker-Packard was a buying favorite on the news that the company was getting into the guided missiles business on the West Coast.

Pittsburgh Widow Slain; House On Fire

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Police and firemen, responding to an alarm, Wednesday found a 68-year-old widow murdered in her home and a fire blazing in another room.

Police said the murderer apparently set fire to the house in an apparent effort to conceal the slaying of Mrs. Evelyn Thomas.

They said her skull was shattered by a hammer.

Two roomers discovered the blaze upon returning home and immediately notified authorities. The blaze burned a hole in the floor but was quickly quelled.

A corporations tax, he said, would be based solely on a company's ability to pay. Under his plan, corporations showing no profits would not pay any tax.

Williams said there is no evidence that corporations profits taxes now in effect in 32 other states have resulted in higher prices.

Williams presented the Legislature last week with a record 292 million dollar budget, including a 25 million dollar item for college and university construction.

Letters To The Editor

A Pleasant Surprise
Cleveland, Ohio

Dear Editor:

Imagine my surprise Jan. 22 while listening to, and watching, Art Linkletter's "Houseparty" via CBS, from Los Angeles, Calif., and seeing a Mrs. Levi Perrin. That in itself wasn't startling, but when she said she was from ESCANABA, MICHIGAN, I leaped right out of the chair. She was on the portion of the show where Mr. Linkletter lets his guests complain about neighbors, and her complaint was about a woman who usurps the parking meters for parking her CAT! As she said, the woman pays the meter fee all right, and then chains the cat to the post. Her complaint apparently being that the meters were for the exclusive use of motor vehicles!

In the four years we have lived in Cleveland, that is the second time I've heard that startling name ESCANABA come roaring out of our TV set. The first time was during a network, hour long, Studio One Play. So you see, contrary to what I've almost begun to believe since moving to Cleveland from Munising, there are people who give credit to there being an Upper Peninsula of Michigan—even so far as to name one of the wonderful towns—ESCANABA.

Oh, incidentally, perhaps I should explain why I that name should ring a bell — I was born there — and it'll always be my favorite city.

Sincerely
Mariana Dufour Juha
